that subject until I have seen Mr. Morton,"

"What is your opinion of the political situation?"

"Everything is quiet as far as I know." That was all Mr. Platt would say for publication.

Mr. Morton arrived yesterday on the French like steamer La Normandie from Europe. Mr. Platt's representative, Chairman Hackett, of the Republican State Executive Committe, had a long talk with Mr. Morton, and is probably the bearer of a message from him to the boos. But the author of the Blocks of Five letter solemnly avers that the subject of conversa on with the ex-Vice-President was about cows and farmyard poultry. Mr. Platt hadn't seen Mr. Hackett this morning.

There isn't any doubt in the minds of well-informed politicians that the old gentleman will accept the old lady's proposal. That settled, the astute Mr. Platt will prepare a platform for Mr. Morton to stand on, and one that he hopes will carry him through, and also the new constitution with its partisan apportionment provision by which the Republicans hope to gain control of the State for the next twenty years.

It is settled by the prophets that the nominees for Governor will be Morton on one side and Flower on the other. But as to the Mayoralty no one will even venture a guess.
